INTRODUCTION

This study examines campaign finance activity by candidates for mayor in municipal elections throughout Massachusetts in 2023. The Office of Campaign and Political Finance (OCPF) began issuing mayoral studies after the 1997 city elections. OCPF devotes considerable attention to municipal races, both by providing guidance and workshops to candidates and working closely with local election officials to help ensure compliance with the campaign finance law.

All mayoral candidates in the state e-filed campaign finance reports with OCPF in 2023.

The information contained in this study is based on data compiled from campaign finance reports filed by 67 mayoral candidates in the 33 cities that held mayoral elections in 2023. The study is limited to those candidates who were on the ballot in the November elections in cities and does not include those who were eliminated in preliminary elections.

Mayoral candidates have campaign finance accounts with banks that file reports directly with OCPF monthly.

Some mayoral candidates in this report may have also held another elected office, such as city councilor, and activity by their committees may also include activity related to that office.

OCPF has taken steps to ensure that the information contained in this report is accurate as of the time of its compilation. The information used for this report does not reflect amendments filed by candidates subsequent to the original filings.

OCPF is an independent state agency that administers Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 55, which provides for disclosure and regulation of campaign finance activity by candidates for state, county and municipal office.

FINDINGS

Voters in 33 cities in Massachusetts went to the polls to elect their mayors in 2023. Thirty-one of the 33 mayoral finals were contested (incumbents in Attleboro and Leominster ran unopposed).<sup>1</sup>

Of the contested races, five featured contests for open seats in Agawam, Haverhill, Marlborough, Melrose and Pittsfield. An acting mayor was serving in Revere.

A total of 67 candidates were on the ballot in November, including 28 incumbents.

The mayors who won election in November 2023 were 23 returning incumbents and 10 newcomers. Four incumbents were defeated – Charles Kokoros of Braintree, Stephen Louis DiNatale of Fitchburg, Roxann Wedegartner of Greenfield and Scott Galvin of Woburn.

The mayoral campaign finance activity in brief:

- The 67 mayoral candidates raised $3,925,740 and spent $4,951,079 in 2023. The records in both categories were set in 2021, a Boston mayoral election year, when 66 candidates raised $9,195,468 and spent $10,043,240.
- Six candidates raised more than $100,000 in 2023, nine fewer than in 2021. Eleven candidates spent more than $100,000 in 2023, five fewer than in 2021.
- The top spender in the 31 contested elections won 22 times. Nine candidates outspent their opponents and lost in Braintree, Chicopee, Fitchburg, Greenfield, Marlborough, Medford, Revere, Waltham and Woburn.
- The race with the highest spending in 2023 was in Quincy, where Mayor Thomas Koch and his challenger Anne Mahoney reported $1,078,592 in expenditures for the calendar year. The most expensive race ever was in 2013 in Boston, when former Mayor Martin Walsh and former Boston City Councilor John Connolly reported total expenditures of $6,020,548.
- The top fundraiser among mayoral candidates in 2023 was Mayor Thomas Koch of Quincy, who raised $619,677. The fundraising record was set in 2013 when Martin Walsh raised $3,004,406 as a Boston mayoral candidate, surpassing the previous record of $1,518,353 set in 2009 by former Boston Mayor Thomas Menino.

<sup>1</sup> Mayors of two cities, Cambridge and Lowell, are elected as city councilors and are chosen by their fellow members to serve as mayor. Because those candidates never appear on the ballot for mayor, they are not included in this study. The mayor of Worcester is a city councilor-at-large but is also elected by voters separately as mayor. That race is included in this report.

- Mayor Thomas Koch of Quincy topped the spending list in 2023, reporting $962,040. Mayor Michelle Wu of Boston holds the spending record, $3,047,256, set in 2021. The previous record was set in 2013, when Martin Walsh reported $3,015,209 in expenditures.
- The average amount spent per vote by a candidate in 2023 was $13.42. The average amount spent per vote by a candidate in 2021 was $24.13, a record. The previous record was set in 2013 when $20.96 was spent per vote.

Comparisons to figures from other years are difficult, due to such factors as turnover of candidates, staggered terms, and the fact that not all cities hold mayoral elections every two years.

A significant factor in any study of mayoral spending is whether Boston is included. The largest city in the state, Boston elects its mayor every four years and has generated the greatest amount of campaign finance activity by far each time it is included in this study. Boston did not hold a mayoral election in 2023.

The totals in this study do not include independent expenditures made to support or oppose candidates for mayor. Independent expenditures are made by independent expenditure political action committees (IEPACs) and other organizations, without coordinating with the candidates they support or oppose. In 2023, $815,014 in expenditures were disclosed by IEPACs, and an additional $213,663 by other entities, largely on mayoral and city council races.
